

ARMY BEATS HOLY CROSS; MICHIGAN IS DEFEATED

Cornell Wins Easily From Brown, Whose Players Start Too Late to Play Brilliantly.

INDIANS FAIL TO MAKE POINT

Well-Executed Forward Pass in Final Quarter Gives University of Pennsylvania 7-to-0 Victory—Georgetown and Western Reserve Lose.

WEST POINT, October 24.—The Army won from Holy Cross to-day by a score of 14 to 0. The cadets were hurt throughout the first half, but when they got going in the third quarter the visitors crumpled up and Hodgson and Bennett were able to run on plunges straight through the line. Two-yard line in the first quarter, losing it once on downs after a pretty defense on the visitors, and the second time when Benedict missed a goal from placement.

The Army scored the cadets' second touchdown in the fourth quarter, after a line buck through center. The play was marred by much fumbling by Holy Cross and the many penalties inflicted on both teams. Hodgson and Weyand were the best for the Army, while Lee and McCarthy shone for Holy Cross.

SYRACUSE DEFEATS MICHIGAN. SYRACUSE, N. Y., October 24.—After holding Syracuse scoreless during the first two periods of the game, Michigan's defense cracked in the second half, the Orange winning by a score of 20 to 0. Two touchdowns were scored, one left half, and one by Rose, right half, in the third and fourth quarters. Rose kicking two goals, gave Michigan the points. Michigan's only score was made in the third quarter, when a splendid forward pass placed the visitors in position to shove Maulbetsch over for a touchdown. Cattlet failed at goal.

Cornell an Easy Winner. NEW YORK, October 24.—Defeating several thousand cheering college rooters the Cornell eleven defeated Brown at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. Score, 28 to 7.

The victory was rather easily won by the Indians, who played an aggressive game during the three periods and found the defense of the Providence team too weak to stop their brilliant rushes.

In the first and third periods Cornell planted the ball behind the goal line and during the second session succeeded in making two touchdowns. In all three of these periods Brown, while making a stubborn fight, was helpless against the onslaught of the brilliant rushes.

In the final session, however, the boys from the Rhode Island capital played a brilliant game, although they started too late to have it avail them much.

Carlisle Indians Blanked. PHILADELPHIA, October 24.—A well-executed forward pass in the final period of the game enabled the University of Pennsylvania to defeat the Carlisle Indians here to-day by the score of 7 to 4 before a crowd of 15,000.

Previous to this play, which was initiated by Full Back Avery at the sending end, and Quarter Back Merrill at the receiving end, the Indians had the better of the game.

From start to finish the redmen outplayed Pennsylvania, and during the game, going 184 yards to Pennsylvania's 130. Likewise, the redmen made double the number of first downs credited to the Quakers.

Each team tried twice to score with goals from placement, but Matthews, for Pennsylvania, twice fumbled the line of scrimmage with drop kicks.

Both teams fumbled badly. Pennsylvania's defense was off-balance, while the Indians, Rockefeller, lost the ball for Pennsylvania three times.

Georgetown Held Scoreless. PITTSBURGH, PA., October 24.—The University of Pittsburgh's eleven defeated Georgetown to-day by a score of 21 to 0. In the first period Kelly, full back, kicked a field goal, and Hastings pounced on the ball and ran through the line forty-five yards for the first touchdown. He was followed by two more touchdowns for a goal.

In the second period the Catholics braced wonderfully, but in the third period, when they wanted, as a result there was no scoring. In the third period, Kelly kicked a field goal, and Hastings secured the ball in a scrimmage, and, breaking through, dodged the whole Georgetown interference across forty-seven yards for a touchdown.

Five minutes later Miller intercepted a forward pass, and ran sixty yards for the third touchdown, and Fry again kicked the goal.

Navy Wins by Large Score. ANNAPOLIS, MD., October 24.—With a thoroughly overhauled team in operation, Navy defeated Western Reserve, 48 to 0, here to-day. Only four of the men who played in the game last Saturday were in their old positions.

The visitors were considerably lighter than their opponents, particularly in the backfield, and they failed to stop Allen, Blodgett and Wesel when they attempted line plunges. Mitchell, replacing Miles at quarter in the final period, distinguished himself by running forty yards for a touchdown.

Reserve used a short forward pass with some success, but failed to make any impression against the Navy line. Schulte, of the visitors, was their only consistent ground-gainer.

Blodgett's kicking of goals was remarkably accurate, he scoring six out of seven.

Maroons Defeat Purdue. CHICAGO, October 24.—The Maroons hung a 21 to 0 defeat on Purdue at State Field this afternoon, after the most brilliant exhibition of open play since the change in the radical revision of football rules.

Rugby passing of the most daring sort, thrilling exhibitions of double and triple leaps and dazzling trick plays were brought into every line of play.

Until the middle of the second quarter Chicago was held even. Then when a line buck was started by Floyd Hill the Purdue twenty-four yard line, the Bollweaver defense slipped and let him go the way to the goal line.

In the third period Russell reeled off sixty-five yards on a fake pass play, throwing the opponents off their guard by pretending he was going to leave the oval as he went for a punt. He then cut back and well get away from the secondary defense, and he crossed the line for the second touchdown.

The final Maroon points came on a fake in the final session. Purdue made a line spurt, and by a series of double and triple passes had put the ball on Chicago's twenty-five yard line. Here another fake was ordered, but the ball bounded off a Bollweaver's head into Sparda's arms, and he had a clear field to the Purdue goal, seventy-five yards away.

Princeton Downs Dartmouth. PRINCETON, N. J., October 24.—Luck and superior use of time gave Princeton the victory over Dartmouth to-day in the first game played in the Tigers' new 2200-seat stadium. Princeton won 12 to 0; Dartmouth, 12.

In the old-style game had been in vogue the night might have been reversed. Princeton's players were more conservative, more speedier, though more erratic.

The Dartmouth eleven also seemed better than in the first game, but they were out of sync, and called so amazingly in the game, and it is to be questioned whether they might not have been a team with a few more seconds to play.

On the second period has seldom been paralleled.

WESLEYAN TEAM STRONG FOR GEORGETOWN GAME

Coached by Pleasant and Carlisle, Former Teammates, Wesleyan, West Virginia Will Use New Plays.

BUCKHANAN, W. VA., October 24.—On Monday Wesleyan starts active preparation for what is generally regarded by the fans as the game of the season, although they have scheduled so far this season, with the possible exception of that with the Indians played at Washington and Georgetown University is met at Washington, D. C.

Wesleyan's record in the game is 1 to 6 in a game which showed Washington football as the better of the two. Wesleyan produced a good football as was shown in its section of the country. It is claimed by the receiving end of the game that anticipated much opposition in the West Virginians, and had, therefore, been at the game to make the men who had to victory. However this may have been, the number of first downs won by a good substantial majority and expects this year to again repeat unless Georgetown is much stronger than in 1913.

Wesleyan has played three games so far in the season, losing to the Indians by the score of 6 to 0, and winning from Marshall College, 34 to 0, and by an identical score at Washington and Lee against this same team, and winning also from V. P. I. last Saturday.

The team lost three men from last year's aggregation, these being Neale, and Lamb, and at center, and Simms at half back. While these men were replaced, their places have been filled by others who have so far been playing fairly well.

Neale is replaced by Heavner, his substitute of last year. Lamb, at center, is replaced by Singleton, a 155-pound lad from last year's team, and Simms by O. Shumaker, a brother of Captain Shumaker, and one of the most promising players appearing on a West Virginia gridiron.

The rest of the West Virginia champions of 1913 remain, although Morgan has supplanted Neale at center, and guards on the left side of the line. His line, and Wesleyan can boast this year a set of the best forwards she has ever had.

Vance at right guard, Kellison and Withers at tackles, Morrison at left tackle, Stedley at center, and Shumaker at half back, and James at full back, are all veterans, and in the line of substitutes, the following appear: Lewis, Altman, Bobbitt, Miller, and others from last year's squad, so that it can be safely said that Wesleyan is a team of veterans.

A change has been effected in the coaching staff, too. Frank Mount Pleasant and William Garlow, both former Carlisle Indians stars, are in charge, and it was interesting to note that in Saturday's game at Washington the coach of the opposition will be Exandine, a former teammate of both Mount Pleasant and Garlow.

BRICKLEY'S ABSENCE WILL CAUSE HARVARD'S DEFEAT

Michigan's Team Not All-Star Aggregation, but Powerful Working Machine.

NEW TACTICS MUST PREVAIL

Instead of Haughton's Men Relying on the Wonderful Brickley, They Must Now Carry Ball Over the Line, an Almost Impossible Task.

NEW YORK, October 24.—Harvard, without its marvelous Brickley, seems due for a beating when it tackles the powerful Michigan team that "Hurricane" Yost has assembled and which he will see again at the Harvard supporters in Cambridge next Saturday.

One of the most regrettable features of the year, from the sporting viewpoint, is the fact that Brickley has been laid up for the past three weeks, and that he will spend next Saturday in the hospital recuperating from an operation when his services are so badly needed by his team.

Brickley, during the line-up, the game promised to be a thriller. It promised to be one of the greatest battles in football history. But with Brickley horsed combat, only a few of the stanchest Harvard supporters feel that the Crimson will triumph over the Maize and Blue.

The Harvard team was built around Brickley. The great fullback was the mainstay of the Harvard machine, with that cog removed, the machine seems minus its power and its tremendous drive. To Brickley, more than anyone else, is due the credit for Harvard's great showing during the past three years. Brickley's boot beat Yale and Princeton last year, and it was figured that Brickley's boot might repeat against Michigan.

The Maize and Blue team during the past three seasons has not been drilled to make touchdowns against its strongest foe. It hasn't been drilled to smash through the enemy's lines and smash and smash and smash and smash and smash the ball over the line. Its main drilling has been to get the ball to within twenty or thirty yards of the rival line and to leave the rest to Brickley and his boot.

Rarely has the Harvard team attempted to carry the ball over the line of its powerful foe since Brickley joined the squad. Coach Haughton probably figured that without Brickley in taking a chance on having his men battered in a fierce fight in the shadows of the goal posts when he had Brickley's toe to lead Harvard to an easier and more certain victory.

Brickley's absence from the Harvard line-up leaves Harvard without a real kicker. He has no other skill in that line. So has Harvard. But neither has more than ordinary.

Haughton now faces a task with the task of drilling the Harvard team in to becoming a touchdown machine. He realizes that he must school it not only to carry the ball to the twenty or thirty-yard line, but then carry it over the line. It is a task that he faces in the limited time that he has is a huge one.

Haughton may succeed. Harvard may give Michigan a beating when they meet next Saturday. This is the year when all the "dope" is being upset. If by Harvard will be a surprise and a change of the Harvard will be pitted against a powerful eleven.

The Michigan team of 1914 is a team that its every foot must respect and fear. It is a team that is built on all-around play. It isn't given to individual playing but the team is perfect in its machine work. It is equally powerful in defense and offense.

Yost has schooled his men as he never before schooled a team. The greatest ambition of his life has been to beat Harvard. The opportunity lies before him—and he means to grasp it. He is drilling his men to use an alternating attack on Harvard—a mixture of old football with the new. And Yost, too, has taught his men some tricks that only the wonderful brain of Yost can figure out—tricks intended to amaze the spectators and sweep Harvard off its feet.

It's too bad for the sake of the gridiron that Brickley won't be able to see the battle. The opportunity lies before him—and he means to grasp it. He is drilling his men to use an alternating attack on Harvard—a mixture of old football with the new. And Yost, too, has taught his men some tricks that only the wonderful brain of Yost can figure out—tricks intended to amaze the spectators and sweep Harvard off its feet.
